

COMMITTED TO CAMBRIDGE'S HEALTH – TODAY AND TOMORROW

The Waterloo Wellington Local Health Integration Network (WWLHIN) is committed to working with its health care partners so that Cambridge and area residents enjoy a healthy community both today, and in the years to come. As part of this commitment, the WWLHIN has initiated an Operational Review in partnership with Cambridge Memorial Hospital (CMH) to ensure that our planning meets the health care needs of local residents.

Cambridge Memorial Hospital is a cornerstone in our community and the WWLHIN is committed to ensuring that it remains a strong and viable centre for delivering health care services. First and foremost, the WWLHIN supports a system that provides quality health care.

The Operational Review Team will assist CMH and support its success in maintaining high quality care for the patients it serves within its planned and approved budget. The team at CMH will use the Review Team's recommendations to develop a plan that will enable them to achieve a strong operating position which, in turn, will help sustain the community hospital through fiscal challenges.

To keep residents up-to-date on developments pertaining to the Operational Review, the WWLHIN has provided information at its website Waterloo Wellington Partners in Health - www.wwpartnersinhealth.ca. Check in often for news and information about the CMH review.
